

ABSTRACT

A method and system for member initialization to and deactivation from an asynchronous data replication group in a database system is disclosed. The method and system allows new members to be added to the replication group or existing members to be removed from the replication group, without requiring the halting of the asynchronous replication of data. The performance advantages of asynchronous replication are still realized during member initialization or deactivation.